Subject: cost of testing garments

at the workshop of separate 29, i volunteered to obtain info from my company on testing of garments.

we have had two engineers working on this and we found it very difficult to separate our in-house cost for wash test of a garment since our lab does many other things.

therefore if sent outside, the cost to wash test would be $ 1.25 and to dry clean $ 3.20 per shirt-type garment.

as far as production time lost- we would do this all before garments go into production. that is our standard procedure.

hope this is of some use.

sincerely,
gloria ferrell
