

As a contact lens wearer I fully support a law that says eye doctors should provide their patients with a copy of their lens prescription. We should have the right to purchase our lenses from whatever source we choose. We should not be held hostage by our eye care providers. I have been lucky that I have been able to obtain a copy of my prescription without much hassle, but I shouldn't have to feel guilty about it. I recently switched eye care doctors due to change in insurance providers through my work. They did provide me a copy of my prescription but I almost felt like I was stealing it.

Please pass this law so we as consumers can use our God given right to choose where we purchase our lenses.

Thank You.

Steven D Pritchard