

Federal Trade Commission:

Please be aware, I fully believe every consumer should have the right to purchase contact lenses outside of their eye examiners office.

Ten years ago, I was bullied by my former optician for wanting a copy of my prescription for contact lenses. He had already sold me a pair of eyeglasses that were very expensive, and was in the habit of charging me $100 quarterly for my 3 month supply of lenses.

I am currently receiving better lenses from the same manufacturer today for $85 ... this is not a privilege I feel I should lose in order to keep eye doctors wealthy by monopolizing the market.

I am urging you to support this new law protecting consumers. I greatly appreciate your attention to this important legislation.

Sincerely,
Nancy R. Robbins
