Dear Sirs/Mesdames:

Please give consumers the right of freedom of choice of where to buy our contact lenses. I have been wearing contacts since 1975, and I am greatly appreciative of 1800CONTACTS and other businesses where I can get a decent price on mine and my son's contact lenses. This goes double for internet pharmaceuticals for price reasons. I save 50 percent through Canadian pharmaceutical companies. We are self-employed and cannot afford what would equal a second house note for decent health insurance with a mere $10 co-pay for prescriptions. We pay out of pocket, and prices for doctor's office visits, blood work and prescriptions are outrageously high. The blood work to see how my cholesterol and lipid levels are doing was $495. I still have to pay to doctor's office visit ($100+) and any medicine (again $100+). Maybe I'll just let my cholesterol level be one of the great mysteries of life from now on. What do you think?

Please make sure that I and millions of other consumers like me can have that wonderful thing we like to call in the United States...freedom of choice.

Sincerely,

Janet Hunter
