Dear Federal Trade Commission,

I recently received an email where Congress passed a Law called the Fairness to Contact Lens Consumer Act. I really agree with the doctor must give you a copy of your own prescription - whether you ask for it or not. If he or she doesn't provide you your prescription, it is now a violation of Federal law. I can't begin to tell you the difficulty at first on how hard it was to get the doctor to give you your prescription in writing. And then, having to fork over an ungodly amount of money for contacts from the eye doctor's office, knowingly you can get them easier and less expensive other ways with the same quality in mind at an affordable price.

However, if the The Federal Trade Commission has proposed a rule which could force you to wait days (not hours) before your lenses can be shipped, I would like to oppose this section on the ruling and not make it into law. Convenience, Fast service and great quality of contacts at an affordable price is what we the consumers would like to continue to receive!!!!!!

The consumer does not want to be in a waiting game with a product one needs!

If there is something I have missed in your ruling, I as a consumer would like to see the Federal Trade Comissions side to this ruling.

Thank you a concerned consumer of contact len's,

Joey D'Alesio
