Hello this is my comment on SpyWare.

Would you like it if I were to sneak into your home and steal vital records, I could sneak in anytime without your knowledge and take papers with your personal information to use as I see fit.

This is the question you need to answer, it is being done on our home computers every stinking day and we have the right to privacy, if we don't then let us just toss the constitution in the trash and have the country totally policed. I am so tired of doing daily maintenance on my system and scanning for viruses, Trojan horses and other nasty things that I could spit nails.

I am tired of spam email from sources that can't be traced advertising child, animal and bondage pornography. If you want to see how sick the world is just log onto the WWW.
