I am an IT technician for a distribution corporation. I also repair PC's on the side. Spyware, malware, adware.....whatever name you want to give it.....has become more of a problem than viruses. At least with a virus you have anti-virus companies releasing fixes. We should be free to surf the net without someone invading our homes, because that is exactly what it is like. Someone has entered, unannounced and uninvited, into our computer. Please take action against this.
