Subject: Spyware Workshop - Comment, P044509

I am a creative and corporate writer. I believe strongly in our Bill of Rights and am all in favor of a business' right to pursue customers. However, spyware is an intrusive and dangerous product, both on a personal and technological level. It must be stopped before it destroys the internet. I don't appreciate having my online habits monitored by anyone and certainly don't appreciate spending an inordinate amount of time trying to fix my computer because of unintentionally downloaded spyware.
