Spyware is an invasion of my privacy. To think of it in any other manner is ridiculous. The govt.is supposed to protect us from this sort of thing, and should definitely do something effective to stop it completely. What a nerve those people have to say it is an abridgement of their rights, you have rights up to the point where you are stepping on someone else's rights. You should put these people out of business completely. There's no excuse for allowing anyone to sneak things on MY computer that I don't know about, and especially to spy on what I do online.
