I usually don't complain about anything, but I do think something should be done about spyware. My computer was working so slow, I never knew how long it would take to start up. Someone told me to use Adaware to get rid of the spyware on my computer. I had never heard of spyware, but I used Adaware anyway. The Adaware program took 214 items of spyware off my computer and now it works fine. People should be informed about this problem, and something should be done about this invasion of our computers.

Thanks for your attention
